BRIDGE CLOSED was what the sign said on both ends of the Chosen Bridge on SR 715 but that only applied to traffic. Anyone who cared to take a closer look could easily tell the bridge was wide open, or at least the steel center span was, while workmen were laboring to add another beam in the center, where two beams were cracked, and other steel work was underway. A Department of Transportation inspector on the job said he had hoped the bridge could be returned to at least partial service by Saturday afternoon but work was proceeding too slowly for that. The job is expected to last about 15 days.

Free tuition offered top 10 per cent

PBJC gives top students break

By DEAN JONES

Herald/Observer Editor

Top Glades area high school seniors will have an added incentive to begin their college careers at Palm Beach Junior College next year, when a plan to provide free tuition for the top ten percent of the graduating class is instituted.

Dr. Cecil Conley, provost of PBJC-Glades, told high school guidance counselors meeting at the local college campus Wednesday morning about the new plan.

Dr. Conley said the offer, while the details haven't been worked out yet, apply to graduating seniors attending Glades Central, Pauroke, Glades Day, Christian Day, Clewiston and Moore Haven High Schools.

He said the offer is good for both years the graduates would be attending PBJC, should they decide to complete their underclass work at the local college so long as they maintain a 3.0 average.

Considering tuition is now priced at $15 per semester hour and 62 hours are required for an AA degree, the total savings a student could realize would be at least $930 through his or her freshman and sophomore years.

Registrar Mary Orsenigo said 12 hours is considered to be the minimum number of hours considered to be full time. The graduates would have to be signed up as full time students.

Dr. Conley said the meeting of the local high school counselors, representing all the high schools mentioned as eligible under the program as well as Glades Correctional Institution, Glades Central Adult School and the West Area Vocational and Technical Center, was called in an effort to make all concerned aware of the educational opportunities available in the Glades.

Bill Babb, director of the West Tech Center now under construction, gave the counselors a run-down on the opportunities area students there.

He said the center will serve high school students during the day under the high school program, including the two area private schools, but he said he wasn't sure about the schools in Hendry and Glades Counties.

Babb said the center is now expected to be in full-time complete service by the time school opens in September and he said he'll be in partial operation next summer.

Besides the high school program, Babb said the center will operate a night-time program for adults, and that will include the schools in Hendry and Glades Counties.

He said the state will certify two programs from the very start in practical nursing and cosmetology. Other programs which will be available by the time full-time operation begins include commercial food preparing, horticulture geared to farming in the Glades, carpentry, residential wiring, plumbing, auto mechanics welding, machine shop, parts counter and management, air conditioning/refrigeration, auto body work, diesel mechanics and heavy equipment operation and repair.

Babb said West Tech is developing a unified curriculum so that a student can transfer between the centers in the west, north and south parts of the county and slip right into his or her work.

Dr. Naomi Conley gave the counselors a briefing on what is available at Glades Central Night School and then Dr. Cecil Conley briefed them on what is available at PBJC-Glades.

He said there are now 654 students enrolled on a permanent

Title I is working

By DEAN JONES

Herald/Observer Editor

BELLE GLADE — It was a cross between a pep rally, a dinner on the grounds and a sermon with an educational message that reads, "Title I works!"

It was Title I first grade teacher Barbara Kaye showing parents how to help their kids at home and it was Rev. Joseph Anderson whipping up enthusiasm for the program with his takeoff on the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

"Repeat after me," Rev. Anderson started. "My child . . ." "My child," came the uncertain response.

"My child," Rev. Anderson said again.

"My child," stronger now.

"I don't think you understand," the minister paused and commented. "Think about that child you carried for nine months. He's yours. Think about that child," he exhorted for several minutes, then swung into his chant again. "My child . . ."

"My child," the parents roared.

"Will read," Rev. Anderson responded. "With the help of Title I . . . with good teachers . . . with my help . . . my child . . . will read."

Rev. Anderson said he enjoyed visiting the Glades because the people here know how to work together. A subject he stressed time after time, and pointed out the West Area is a leader in Title I because it's the first area to have an area council going beyond school councils.

Rev. Anderson said the area needs veterans, computer programmers, mill workers and other skilled tradesmen and professionals; "and I believe the Glades can provide those workers."

"I believe in America," he said, "because I had a child making F's and through Title I, he came home with an A in reading. I don't believe we should have a Negro language or a street language. I believe we need to teach all our children the proper use of the English language."

"Your child can read," he said, "but we need teachers who won't teach them at their level but who'll bring those children up to the level then turn around and rent it to the taxi drivers by adding a rental fee to their yearly license fee.

He also noted the city had built the previous stand and though there may be a question as to ownership, nobody had said anything about it in over seven years.

In answer to his suggestion, the council agreed to proceed with the structure and the rental charge. The first year's rent is to be collected from the other drivers by one of their own and turned over to the city. The building is also to be constructed "to code" and Sloaker said he will gladly issue the building permit to the city.

In other business related to taxis, the council approved Lonnie Dean as the city's newest driver, filling the 17-driver limit.

Hub Spooner of Prudential Insurance appeared before the council to submit a proposal for group coverage of the city's employees. He had previously met with the Insurance Committee and noted the Committee's recommendation was to consider the same company who presently handles the city's insurance.

Spooner said the cost of the insurance program would be about the same as the present Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan, but that the benefits would be better.

After hearing Spooner's proposal, the council questioned whether the insurance would handle ongoing medical cases was assured it would.

Spooner noted that accepting his company, Washington National, the city could offer an improved employee benefit without spending additional money.

Following the presentation, the council agreed to give the matter additional consideration providing the Insurance Committee collects the names of half the city employees on a petition asking that the change be made.

In other business, the council accepted a bid from Glade and Grove Supply for two riding lawn mowers at a total cost of $1,350. A bid on a push mower from Accurate Repair Service was rejected because it did not conform to the city's bid specifications but since the estimated cost of the mower was lower than $500, it was accepted and will be purchased through the bid system.

National welfare... Continues unbridled!

Welfare goes unchecked, the rogue elephant of Washington. Successive efforts to reform and restrain runaway federal welfare programs have eluded every president going back to the time of John F. Kennedy.

And small wonder. The nation's welfare constituency has grown so powerful and there are so many trade-offs between competing factions that even a simple reorganization of public assistance programs has become all but impossible.

Last year, for example, President Carter's bolder-than-usual welfare reform bill collapsed of its own weight after Congress grafted on $18 billion in additional benefits.

Now, instead of reorganizing the federal welfare bureaucracy and its 182 programs, some of which overlap or conflict with each other, the White House has quietly sponsored a new bill that simply tidies the messier loose ends of certain aid programs and tightens federal control step by step at the expense of the states.

As usual in approaching the welfare monster, the administration's proposed changes are being pushed as "reforms."

A few days ago, the administration's 1979 welfare reform bill, HR 4904, passed the House with little notice, being overshadowed by events abroad and presidential politics at home. Nevertheless, this was the first time in eight years the House has approved legislation making major changes in the nation's welfare system.

In broad terms, HR 4904 would amend existing law to impose a national minimum level of support for welfare recipients throughout the United States. It would require all states to provide cash Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) that, in conjunction with food stamps, would give each household an income equal to at least 65 percent of the federally defined poverty level of $4,654 for a family of four.

States also would be required to offer help to two-parent families with children when the principal wage earner was unemployed.

In order to win political support in Congress, the administration's bill provided increased federal contributions to state welfare costs by about $900 million. The heightened federalization of welfare under the bill prompted Congressman Barber B. Conable, R-N.Y., among others, to denounce it for leading the welfare program "in the wrong direction."

Despite the wide margin of support for this latest welfare "reform," a coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats came within five votes of passing an amendment that would have permitted states to set work requirements for welfare recipients. Unfortunately, such local control is not envisioned as welfare reform by the Carter administration and its liberal allies on Capitol Hill.

But even those forces may not suffice to save HR 4904 in the Senate where Finance Committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., awaits, sword in hand.

Sen. Long wants to see work requirements toughened and he favors giving block grants to states to run their own welfare programs. It appears unlikely this welfare bill will escape death or mutilation in Sen. Long's committee — proving that questionable reforms are as immune to passage as unquestionable ones.

And so welfare unbridled continues on out of control, increasing by geometric proportion as new programs are added and old ones are liberalized until 59.6 million Americans are estimated to receive some form of welfare benefits. Almost 60 percent of welfare recipients in certain categories are non-poor. Welfare payments are up to about $80 billion annually and total transfer payments are estimated to exceed $250 billion a year.

Such sums recall De Tocqueville's warning about American democracy in which he suggested great danger from politicians and an avaricious citizenry sucking the public treasury.

Is it, we wonder, expecting too much that among the numerous presidential candidates taking to the stump some will come to grips with the welfare crisis that ranks with energy and inflation among the country's most acute domestic problems?

If I had been drinking. But I hadn't. My mind seemed to be playing tricks on me . . . hey, right there on page 266 is John Travolta and he isn't even dancing.

Wonder how Sears came up with the money for him?

I'm getting ready to put aside the Wish Book, when I come to page 228 and feelings of great admiration well up inside me.

I'm used to seeing 18 and 19 year old girls, tall and slender modeling Sears clothing. On this page I see a lovely lady and she has gray hair. She's modeling a smoked top lounge.

Turning to page 230, an even larger surprise is in store. How can I say this delicately? Lovely, ladies are now modeling Sears lingerie.

That's what I call an equal opportunity store. You never know who you'll run across in its pages.

A football team deserves all the attention it gets for the hard work that goes into getting into shape, for the bumps and bruises that come from tackling and blocking, and for just having the courage to suit up for a game.

Also deserving of recognition are the folks behind the scene who make football games possible.

I recently had the opportunity to sit in on the Sugar Bowl Committee meetings as details were worked out for the Clewiston North Fort Myers game Saturday, Nov. 24.

Heading the committee was Nick Smith. I was impressed by Nick's attention to detail as he juggled seemingly a thousand details in his head, including parking, a barbecue, lining up the chain crew, arranging publicity and having a program printed.

His uses of notes were sparing, yet everything seemed to work out smoothly.

Others who helped out include Ray Pittman, Cary Frazier and Robert Dickson — who barbecued the chicken for the pre-game meal, Phil Roland — who cleaned the corn for the meal and sold barbecue tickets, Mandy Morell who donated the ray, Steve Bell, Vern Thacher, and Ray Clark.

Clewiston's coaching staff was also present at each of the meetings, including Al Morell, Vance Johnston, Joe Whitehead, John Chapman and Joel Williams.

It was every bit as much a team effort as what happened on the gridiron Saturday night. And though all the details of how a bowl game are worked out might not be as interesting as how a halfback gains 200 yards, they are just as important.

wants to get on a vacation is upset, right?

It was harder and harder to keep on an even keel with the daily updates on Iran though. Seemed like everybody I talked to wanted my opinion. Actually, I don't think they really did. They just wanted to be polite and ask me for mine so they'd have a chance to tell me theirs.

I don't think Jimmy C. would really be interested in my opinion, even if it does have precedence set by Abe Lincoln during the war between the U.S. of A. and the good guys.

While Carter was talking about deporting any of the 50,000 Iranian students enrolled in United States universities who might be here illegally or be doing things that are illegal.

Far as I'm concerned, that's the easy but dumb way out. The thing to do is make 'em wish they were being deported. Round 'em all up, suspend their constitutional rights (just like Abe Lincoln did) and let that bearded fanatic in Tehran know they're sharing the fate of the diplomats being held hostage...

..at the rate of 1,000 to one.

And if that ain't enough, let whoever happens to be in charge of Iran know in no uncertain terms the seizure of the American embassy is an act of war and we're prepared to prosecute that war to the reasonable end of nuking Tehran.

Of course, none of that will ever be done because we're a civilized nation and civilized nations don't make war any more. We just sit and take whatever ration of crap this or any other hand of hooligans decides to dish out.

I guess it's just that there's enough of John Foster Dulles' philosophy of massive retaliation left in me that I'm not quite civilized yet.

Undermanned

Congress decided to add 495 positions to the 2,100-agent Border Patrol. Now President Carter's budget office has deleted 310 of the new positions.

That will save $14.5 million this fiscal year, and when you are trying to balance the budget every saving counts.

But it will leave the U.S.-Mexico border sadly undermanned, especially in the Chula Vista, Calif., sector, which includes stations at San Ysidro, El Cajon, San Clemente, Temecula and Tijuana.

The news of the cut was a disappointment to border patrolmen who feel overwhelmed by the flood of illegal aliens crossing from Mexico.

No matter how much manpower is posted to the border, however, the flow will continue as long as the aliens are attracted by the promise of employment at wages far higher than they can earn in Mexico.

The real answer to the invasion, the effective way to enforce this country's existing immigration law, would be to provide a counterfeit-proof Social Security card to every legal worker and penalize employers who knowingly hire the illegal aliens.

Congress continues to be reluctant to enact the legislation needed to do this.

As a result it is getting harder and harder for an honest professional-mechanic to stay ahead, service up a breeze to fix with

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

Take a vacation and the whole world goes to pot.

I must've just about cleared the city limits and up in North Carolina, some KKKers waste several Communists. Communists? Well, I figured the guy telling me about that end of it was a lifer in the Marine Corps so he was probably exaggerating anyway.

On the other hand, he didn't seem to happy at all when he found someone burned a cross in the front yard of the house he had rented to a black family. From where the ashes were located, he was darned lucky the thing didn't burn down his house. There may be no love lost between him and the KKK anyway.

Then, I was just about making that long detour around flooded-out 441 when the Iranian students took all those hostages, yeah, it's been that long. Actually, it hasn't been all that long but when you go on vacation, it seems a lot can be crammed into two weeks.

And that was just about the time I started asking what kind of a deal this is.

Just what kind of vacation is that starts the week you get a call and Biff says the dike has busted, then holds a long, pregnant pause before he clarifies his remark that he wasn't talking about the Herbert

Dike and I didn't have to evacuate then and there.

Before I started back to Belle Glade, I was looking for Famine.

What with Fire, Flood and War putting in their appearances, I figured someone knew something they brought out the movie Apocalypse Now.

Come to think about it, though, there's still Cambodia. I just wasn't thinking about that because it had been shoved off the front pages for a couple weeks.

Maybe somebody does know something.

Actually, it wasn't a bad vacation personally, if you ignore the banged-up knee that came with the banged-up hands acquired while I was getting reacquainted with carpentry by tearing out and replacing the flooring of a back porch.

Even made time to go fishing but the signs of the times were holding. Didn't even get a nibble except for the crabs who had a minor fit-off the live bait. Since I couldn't get the interest of any reds, I would've been more than happy to settle for crab claws but the little critters weren't having any of that.

The only thing left was some chewed up finger mullet.

I decided not to get too upset about that though. After all, it was a vacation so the last thing anybody

Now I'm not one of those shade-tree mechanics who starts ripping out nuts, bolts and hoses in search of some unknown problem. I like to approach the situation carefully — looking, listening and sniffing my way around before even lifting a wrench. Something along the line an honest attempt will be made to determine whether the problem can be fixed at home or whether it's time to start hunting up a mechanic.

Since I practically grew up in a service station (my father used to own one), I'm probably more qualified than most tinkerers when it comes to automobiles. Changing the oil and filters are a snap. And until I bought the car I have now, it was not uncommon to see me attacking minor electrical and mechanical repairs.

The first car I drove was a 1962 Rambler station wagon. It had a six-cylinder engine with no air conditioning, no power steering, no power brakes, and no smog control. Without much optional equipment on it, the motor had as much room around as a duck in a swimming pool. As a breeze to fix with they're supposed to be."

He said, and many of the other speakers during the night said, that Title I is doing just that.

Barbara Kaye said that when she first started teaching first graders in Title I five years ago, there were enough first graders to fill four Title I centers in the area but, because the centers had to work with children in grades from kindergarten through grade four, many of those who needed help were sent back to the mainstream.

"Title I is working," Mrs. Kaye said, "because this year, there are only enough first graders for one center and they've taken me out of the large room I was in and given me a small classroom. It works."

Mrs. Gartner, West Area Title I consultant, said the purpose of Title I is to provide additional help for students in one or more of the basic skills and works with the child who is educationally disadvantaged and provides extra help for the child whose educational gain is less than expected.

"Our job," she said, "is to work ourselves out of a job and we're doing that because there aren't as many children now who need additional help."

Mrs. Gartner urged parents participating in the open house to join the Parent Advisory Council at their child's school.

Protect Children From Choking Accidents

Be especially cautious to keep objects small enough to be swallowed away from infants and small children. For they do not expectorate, but attempt to swallow and inhale them into the lungs. Teach them to spit anything out.

Do not stimulate a child to laugh or cry while it is in his mouth. Physicians advise it is not wise to reach into an infant's mouth to remove an impacted foreign object. Place the victim face down across a bed or chair and call a physician. For choking is the leading cause of accidental death in the home to children under five.

Sugar growers blast legislation

If sugar prices continue to escalate as they have since the defeat of sugar stabilization legislation, then costs are bound to be passed on to consumers, said S.N. Knight Sr., president of the Florida Sugar Cane League, at the Monday, Nov. 26, annual membership meeting of the FSLC.

"I am sure everyone has been watching the price of sugar. Domestic spot market prices have been ranging slightly over 16 cents and we may be witnessing a situation similar to the middle '70's, when the Congress also failed to enact sugar stabilization legislation," said Knight.

Then, Knight said, sugar cane growers were accused of raising sugar prices to the detriment of American consumers.

"Let the record stand clear now. The United States Congress and the office of the presidency must shoulder most of the responsibility of the tremendous instability in the sugar market we are expecting today."

"The Congress was foiled in the name of consumers. Some sugar cane refiners and industrial users used the consumer movement to kill the sugar bill. It's unfortunate that the consumer groups didn't take the time to really learn what was at stake for the American consumer," said Knight.

Knight cited failure of Congress to understand the basic issues of the domestic sugar industry.

The stabilization legislation, voted down by the U.S. House of Representatives on Oct. 23, would have raised the average American's food bill about $2 a year.

Raw sugar prices would have risen by eight-tenths of a penny per pound this year and up to 7 percent a year through 1982. Hikes in raw sugar prices traditionally have been passed directly to consumers.

The legislation also called for the government to levy fees on imported sugar priced at less than 15.8 cents a pound, thus establishing that figure as the minimum U.S. price for raw sugar. The government currently is supporting sugar prices at 15 cents a pound.

"I ask every news media representative present here today to make note of the sugar prices and prices of sugar-containing products. And when the sugar market comes down, as it surely will, to make an honest check to see of the industrial sugar users lower their prices to consumers. They haven't in the past and there is no reason to believe they will again. Thanks to the Congress, consumers are about to get another ripoff."

"Perhaps when we go to Washington again, we can make our point understood. Stability benefits everyone, producers and consumers alike. Instability hurts

Bailey candidate for state's attorney

A West Palm Beach trial lawyer announced today, almost a year before the general election next November, that he'll be running for the Palm Beach County State's Attorney office now held by David Bludworth.

Nelson Bailey, a 36-year-old attorney who has seven years experience as a criminal trial lawyer in the county, said he was announcing his candidacy so early, "because I didn't want to pussyfoot around. I'm going to come out early. I'm going to run for the office and I'm going to win."

Bailey said the increasing crime rate, especially for violent crimes, in the county, and the increasing fear on the part of citizens, must be addressed by the state's attorney's office, which is charged with prosecuting criminal cases.

He said his platform three planks at this time, with the first being the goal of putting an end to "gross abuses of plea bargaining". He said there would be no deals made for minor offense and burglaries if he's elected.

This second plank was that he promised a vigorous investigation in cases where elected and appointed officials are accused of wrongdoing. "So far," he said, "such investigations have been half-hearted and nonproductive. I don't know of a single official Mr. Bludworth has prosecuted."

consumers more than farmers in the long run," said Knight.

"I think we do an awful lot of good."

"I wish we could do a better job in keeping fraud and abuse out of the program," said Williams.

In touching on balancing the federal budget, Williams said, "It's not easy. Especially in light of recent talk of recession." However, he said, statistics do not bear the economic downswing theory out.

"Today, there are 96.5 million people at work, which is 8.5 million more than were working in January of 1977, the federal deficit has dropped from $66 billion to $12.5 billion since the administration came to office," he said.

In commenting on political leadership in the country, Williams said, "Nothing I've ever done in life is more pleasant than public service. The politicians need to make decisions on the basis of what's right and what must be done. Decisions must be made on issues and available data, not what

"This country can no longer wait until the constituents back home are in the plurality to make important decisions," said Williams.

BAckpumping extended month

Though he had not had time to review it, South Florida Water Management District public relations director Larry Nunn told the Belle Glade Rotary Club Tuesday the WMD has received a 30-month extension to study backpumping.

Nunn noted that various conservationist groups had sought to allow only a year for the studies but the courts granted the 30-months he said are needed by the political bodies.

"The Living Link" about Lake Okeechobee, Nunn discussed a few of the controversies concerning water in South Florida.

He said many feel the WMD should limit supplies of water, thereby limiting growth, but that the WMD is not nor will it ever be, the agency responsible for this. Nunn said that would be a political decision and should be left up to political bodies.

supply of water, he said. Since the district was created in 1949 it has sought to manage water, provide flood and drought protection and undertake studies concerning water supply and quality.

Among the WMD's study areas are such items as river conservation, water regulation, wastewater development, backpumping both into conservation areas and Lake Okeechobee, desalination of brackish water, deep aquifer storage, the reuse of wastewater, weather modification and others.

Nunn said conservation practices have begun and are promising while new rules have allowed the WMD to "get a handle" on how much water is used by whom.

He said Lake Okeechobee's present regulation stage of between 15.5 feet and 17.5 feet would not likely be raised. Weather modification may prove beneficial in years to come, he said, but the problem lies in "turning off the rain" once it has begun and in making the rain fall where it is needed.

Deep aquifer storage has merit, but Nunn said various groups also wish to inject sewer water into the boulder zone. He predicted that at some point, homes would have two water systems, one for drinking and the other for every other use.

He said he did not feel that additional storage and conservation areas would be purchased because of the high land cost and noted the ideal storage area would be the Holey Land, an idea bitterly fought by hunting groups.

He said he did not feel that basis and another 500 who participate in a variety of workshop programs during the year. He said there are also several courses being offered by Florida Atlantic University.

PBJC-Glades Student Counsellor Freddie Harrell said Career Day this term will be bigger than last year's first attempt and that the increased number of representatives will be placed both upstairs and downstairs. He said the Pacemakers will provide entertainment.

Harrell said his staff is also prepared to go over how high school students can get financial aid, either to attend PBJC or other institutions. He said he is available to speak to groups at any time.

too much interest has been generated in the opening basketball game at Martin County tonight, but the football playoffs are also affecting Coach Jay Seider by keeping basketball players off the court.

"The team we have this year is going to be young and inexperienced," Seider said. "Eugene Wells is the only starter returning from last year and three or four players are still playing football."

Seider said the 1980 version of the Raider basketball team will be younger, more inexperienced and shorter than other teams in the past.

Besides the fact Wells is the only returning player, Charles Seers and Paul Simmons, at 6'4", are the two tallest players on the team. Seider said the youthful inexperience of the not so tall team may be made up for by quickness, however.

I think we'll be a better shooting club this year," he said, "and we'll have to rely more on quickness and team discipline. The main thing we need right now is more playing time together."

The Raiders open their season with tonight's game against Martin County, a home game against Twin Lakes on Dec. 4 and an away game against Twin Lakes on Dec. 7, then host Martin County on Dec. 11 before closing the pre-Christmas regular season with a Dec. 14 match against Fort Pierce Westwood in the Raider gym.

"These first four games can only help us," he said. "Martin County is the defending Class AAA state champions and Twin Lakes is a good Class AAAA school too. They'll help us get ready for the start of conference play."

The first five games will be played during the time of the football playoffs so if the Raider football team even gets into the state playoff, that will take place the same night as the Westwood game in the Raider gym. The state championship game would be held in the Belle Glade Memorial Stadium.

Glades Central Athletic Director Graham Frost said, however, that he has already reached an agreement with coaches of Martin County, Twin Lakes and Westwood that as long as the Raider football team continues to win conflicting basketball games would be rescheduled to Thursday nights, as was the Martin County game tonight, which was originally scheduled for Friday night.

Seider said the team has been practicing so far under the tutelage of Greg Price and Henry Pickens, his two assistants. Price was also an assistant last year but Seider said this is Pickens' first year.

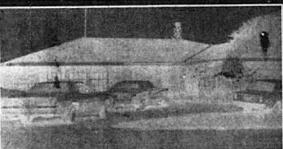

The Raiders this year will be forward Wells, 6'2"; guard Barry Adley, 6'1"; center Sammy Anderson, 6'3"; guard Ernest Bassie, 6'1"; guard Elmore Dukes, 5'10"; forward James Dunson, 6'1"; guard Torrence Gardner, 5'11"; forward Albert Pace, 5'11"; forward Willard Joe River, 6'1"; center Charles Seers, 6'4" and center Paul Simmons, 6'4".

Last year's Raiders won 18 games, lost eight and were district and regional champs.

THE ROSE PETAL was awarded a plaque of appreciation Tuesday by the Belle Glade Beautification Committee. Accepting the plaque was store owner Vera Weeks (center) from Committee members Theresa Lutz and Alene McAllister. Mrs. McAllister said the award was made because of the Christmas displays in the store window that "benefit the entire city."

Soccer season begins Monday

BELLE GLADE-Glades Central's new soccer team is "as ready as we can get them in the four weeks we've had," Coach Howard Taylor said Tuesday. The soccer team opens action Monday night against John I. Leonard and plays North Shore before opening at home Dec. 12.

The Glades Central fans will have their first look at the soccer team in action under the lights at Memorial Stadium and Taylor said he expects the game to be a tough one.

The opponent in that first home game will be Martin County, who Taylor said has fielded a soccer team for the past six years and who is aiming for a state championship this year.

Taylor and his team have been practicing in the field behind the high school annex, using a field marked off by street lamp marker cones in the absence of striping and goals.

As a matter of fact, he said the school's goals have yet to be delivered and some of the players have never seen a soccer goal although they'll be using one for target Monday night.

The English-born two-time All-American said about a quarter of the boys playing on the Raider team have some kind of experience in playing soccer and not all of those have played in organized competition before.

He said he had little trouble breaking the natural tendency of inexperienced players to use their hands quickly...by ordering them who forgot to run a mile for each time their hands touched the ball.

Taylor said interest at the school has picked up, particularly since the students found the games that would be played at night in the football stadium. Admission to the games will be 50 cents per person.

The Raiders will play a total of 16 games this season, eight home and eight away, with six consecutive games being played in the Glades Central stadium between Jan. 19 and Feb. 6.

Crisis unit sets open house

BELLE GLADE-The Glades Mental Health Steering Committee and staff will host an open house at the Crisis Stabilization Unit at 130 S.E. Ave. E from 2 to 7 p.m. Tuesday, according to Director Jean Cogar.

The ten-bed unit is slated to open in December as soon as staffing is finalized and has undergone training. When opened, the unit will be the first mental health intervention service in the Glades area.

The unit will accept all persons in acute emotional crisis who are determined by the medical staff to be suitable for admission. Persons admitted will be treated on an intensive basis with the goal of stabilizing their conditions in a maximum of five days. Disposition will be arranged for those patients requiring treatment for more than five days.

The unit will be under the medical supervision of Donato Roman, the staff psychiatrist. The unit will be staffed by registered nurses, practical nurses, mental health technicians, a case manager and a secretary.

Turkey shoot is Friday

PAHOKEE-A two-week turkey shoot will be sponsored this weekend and next weekend at the Pahokee Lions Club by the club members to raise funds to help send the Pahokee High School band to Mardi Gras in New Orleans next year.

The shooting will begin at 1 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 30, Dec. 1 and 2 and Dec. 7-9, and will last until dark. Donations will be 1.50 per shot and shooters may bring their own shotguns or use those available at the turkey shoot.

Lion Prof Norman said the $1.50 donation pays for the shells, which will be furnished by the club. Twelve shooters will compete against each other and the turkeys will be picked up later.

Saturday afternoon, and five persons being treated for smoke inhalation according to South Bay Fire Chief Jim Webber.

Webber said he had been told by Chequita Clark of 212 N.W. Tenth Ave. that she had earlier cooked dinner in her apartment stove and had left some plastic containers on it while she was away.

He said she woke up to the smell of smoke, took her son outside and attempted to use pots and buckets from the next door apartment to extinguish the flames before calling the Fire Department.

"The fire was burning at least ten or fifteen minutes before the Fire Department was called," Webber said. He said the fire gutted the apartment, causing an estimated $6,000 damage.

Webber said Fire Lt. James Piper and four neighbors, Theodore Green, Jody Green, Nettie McNair and Henry Green, an infant living in the next door apartment, were treated and released at Glades General Hospital.

Unwin continues to chair canal committee

By DEAN JONES
Herald-Observer Editor

Marvin Unwin was re-elected chairman of the Canal Hazards Safety Committee in a unanimous vote Wednesday morning of the committee during a reorganization meeting.

Unwin has chaired the committee for the past two years.

Other officers chosen to fill committee positions were First Vice President Franklin Jones, Second Vice President W. C. Taylor, Treasurer Rupert Mock St. and Secretary Helen McCormick.

The committee also heard a report by David Smith of the State Department of Transportation on the falling of trees along SR 80 and US 441 north of Belle Glade through Pahokee and Canal Point.

Smith said the DOT work crews are running into a few minor problems at Deadman's Curve and north of Canal Point with land owners along the right of way objecting to having the Australian Pines left in the canal alongside the road.

Committee member Duncan Padgett said he would work with Smith by contacting the land owners and explaining the situation and its importance to them.

The tree removal is a project long sought by the Canal Hazards Safety Committee and Smith said that on the whole, it's proceeding well, although not as rapidly as he had thought it would.

"We thought we'd get an average of 30 trees a day," Smith said, "but it's more like 15 a day."

Smith said that the wood will probably be left in the canal in many instances for about 12 months but he conditionally agreed to David Goodlett's suggestion to offer the wood from the trees to homeowners who want fire wood.

Smith said he had no objections at all to Goodlett's suggestion as long as the residents collecting firewood don't get in the way of the work crews or on the right of way owned by the Florida East Coast Railroad along US 441.

Goodlett also offered more prison labor, saying he had been in touch with Glades Correctional Institution Superintendent R. V. Turner and Palm Beach County Sheriff Richard Wille.

CHOCOLATE:

Star attraction for the holidays

By TRISH JOHNSON
Herald-Observer Staff Writer

Are you convinced it can't be Christmas without an overabundance of chocolate? Are you, truly, one of that host of folks who proclaim chocolate to be their favorite flavor?

Never fear . . . you're in good company.

Statistically, chocolate is the most-favored flavor throughout the world, rating as high today as it did three centuries ago when it was enjoyed only by aristocrats who could afford the forty-some-odd dollars a pound of the rare stuff cost.

Now, however, chocolate is available in so many forms that the list of sweets which can be created with a chocolate theme is seemingly endless.

Brownies, a long-time favorite for which there are nearly as many recipes as there are fish in the ocean, still stands out as a special treat, whether it's the holiday season or not. Vying for their share of the audience, however, are Congo Squares, a type of blonde brownie with chocolate bits which is fast gaining in popularity.

For the traditional, the following recipes will lend a festive look to your buffet or tea table; for the more adventurous, the following recipes may provide the basis for what might become a family tradition.

BROWNIES

3 eggs
1/2 cup melted butter
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup sifted flour
Few grains salt
2 oz. chocolate, melted and cooled
1/2 cup nut meats
1 tsp. vanilla
1 recipe chocolate icing

Melt butter; beat in the sugar and mix well. Add eggs one at a time and beat briskly. Add flour, chocolate and nuts. Bake in a buttered, 9x9-inch square pan about 35 minutes at 325-degrees F. Cool, ice and cut into squares when icing melts. Makes about 1 1/2 dozen squares.

CONGO SQUARES

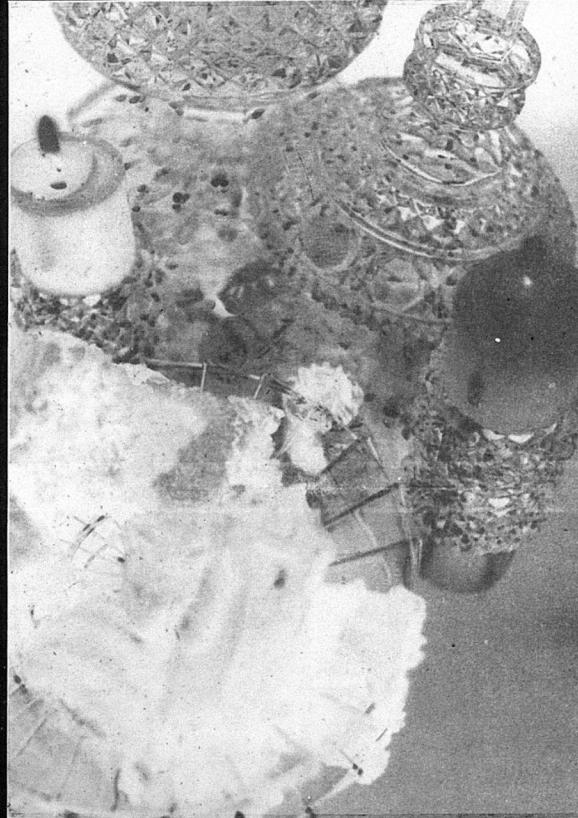

2 2/3 cup butter or margarine
2 1/4 cup brown sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
2 3/4 cups flour
1/4 tsp. salt
3 eggs
1 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup chocolate chips
2 1/2 tbsps. baking powder

Melt butter; remove from heat and add sugar and vanilla. Cool mixture. Then add eggs, beating well after each, and stir in flour, salt and baking powder. Add nuts and chocolate chips. Spread in a 13x9x2" pan and bake 25-30 minutes in preheated 350-degree oven. When nearly cool, cut into squares.

CHOCO-NUT BUTTER BARS

1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
1 cup flaked coconut
1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 cup chopped nuts
1 15-oz. can sweetened condensed milk

Combine melted butter, crumbs and coconut in bottom of ungreased 13x9x2-inch pan. Press lightly. Cover with layer of semi-sweet chocolate pieces. Sprinkle with layer of chopped nuts. Drizzle sweetened condensed milk evenly over surface. Bake at 350-degrees F. for 30 minutes. Cool completely before cutting.

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 1/2 oz. unsweetened choco. chocolate, melted
1 1/2 cups sifted, all-purpose flour
2 1/2 tbsps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3 cups quick-cooking oats
1 6-oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces

In large mixer bowl combine butter and sugar until fluffy. Beat in eggs, vanilla and chocolate. Stir in remaining ingredients. Drop dough by rounded tablespoons onto greased cookie sheets. Bake at 350-degrees F. for 12-15 minutes. Do not overbake! Cookies will still be soft when done. Makes 5-6 dozen.

MARBLED BROWNIES

3/4 cup butter or margarine
3 oz. unsweetened chocolate
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tbsps. vanilla

CHEESE LAYER:
1/4 cup sugar
2 Tbsps. butter
1 Tbsp. cornstarch
1 cup cottage cheese, sieved
1 egg, beaten
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/4 tsp. salt

Melt butter and chocolate over hot water; cool slightly. Beat eggs and sugar together in mixing bowl until thick and light colored. Add chocolate mixture; beat at high speed one minute.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; add with vanilla to chocolate mixture. Spread half the chocolate layer in bottom of 13x9x2-inch pan. Pour cheese layer on top. Spread remaining chocolate layer over top. Press back of spoon into batter several times to form marbled effect.

Bake at 350-degrees F. for 40-45 minutes; cool. Cut into bars or squares.

CHEESE LAYER: Cream sugar and butter; blend in cornstarch. Add cottage cheese, egg, vanilla and salt; mix well.

Santa list finally reveals generation gap

I'm finally ready to admit a Generation Gap exists.

Oh, believe me, I've fought it tooth and nail. I've answered "Who's Norman Mailer?" without blinking an eye, admitted to having seen The Beatles on Ed Sullivan's show, and calmly managed to ignore remarks about how much easier history must have been when I was in school because "there wasn't so much of it."

But I'm losing ground fast. In fact, the only thing that's losing ground faster than me is an Edsel with a Nixon sticker on the bumper.

My son's letter to Santa Claus, for instance, reads like a rejected page from a "Buck Rogers in the Twenty-First Century" script.

...in the fast lane

By

"Look," I said, folding my hands on the table in front of me to create an air of congeniality and mutual concern, "I know it's important to you that this letter get to Santa, but if I can't understand it, how will he? What, for instance, is a 'Magno-Man Robot with Pulsar attachment'?"

"It's a robot with directional beam signals."

"Right," I said, moving on down the table and beginning to drum my fingers on the table ever so lightly. "And how about this? An 'Excaliber III Aerodynamic Motocrosser'? If it has to be litter-trained, fed, taken for walks or diapered we're crossing it off the list."

"It is," he said slowly, "a bicycle."

"I don't believe it," I said, my knuckles beginning to turn white as I gripped the edge of the table for support. "There's not a pair of skates, box of crayons or fire truck anywhere on this list."

"Yes there is," he sighed, a little too calmly. "Right there, where it says 'sour-assisted emergency module with tracking device and transistorized components.' That's a fire truck."

"That rips it," I said through gritted teeth, pushing myself rather shakily to my feet. "You'll have to excuse me. I'm going to take a motivationally-position encapsulated emotional aid."

"A wha . . . ?"

"A tranquilizer," I said sweetly.

Double corn stuffing can add 'piz'

I'd like to try a slightly different turkey stuffing than the cornbread one I've been using for years. My family really likes the dressing, but I just want something new.

H.C.
Belle Glade

No sense in shocking your family away from the table, so try this stuffing which combines the best of both worlds: cornbread stuffing with a little extra pizzazz for the bored cook: whole kernel corn in mixture.

DOUBLE CORN STUFFING

1/4 c. butter
1 c. diced celery
1/2 c. chopped green pepper
2 cups canned, whole kernel corn
1/4 c. pimento
1 8-oz. pkg. cornbread stuffing

Preheat oven to 325-degrees F. Prepare stuffing according to package directions, including one beaten egg. Sauté celery, green pepper and corn in butter for five minutes. Add with pimento to stuffing, stirring only to blend. Stuff an 8-10 lb. turkey, or place in buttered, 1 1/2 quart casserole dish and bake at 325-degrees F. during the last 30 minutes of roasting time.

A relative of mine used to make homemade fruit candy during the holiday season. It was made with the same nuts and fruits you find in fruitcake, but I can't find a recipe for it.

S.C.
Pahokee

We'll have to agree with you... it isn't easy to find. But once located, it sounds as though it could become a family holiday tradition! Our recipe doesn't indicate how much candy this will make; obviously, it will depend upon how large you make the bars.

FRUIT CANDY

1 lb. dark brown sugar
2 c. mixture of chopped nuts, raisins, citron, dried figs, candy cherries
1 c. granulated sugar

Water
Cut fruit and nuts very small, using a mixture to your taste (for nuts, use pecans, almonds or walnuts; no peanuts). Mix nuts and fruits together well. Cover sugar with water and boil until sugar dissolves and reaches soft-ball stage (small amount dropped in cold water will be firm, but not brittle).

Beat sugar-water mixture just until it reaches a fudge-like consistency (no longer, as fruits and nuts harden it even more). Add fruits and nuts, and pour onto waxed paper, making it as thick as mixture allows. Cut into bars of whatever size you like, and wrap in waxed paper as soon as cool. Store in dry place.

to make cottage cheese at home and, no, you need no special equipment. Here's the easiest way we know of to make cottage cheese:

HOMEMADE COTTAGE CHEESE

Junket tablet
Milk
Cold Water

until it is evenly distributed. Let stand 12 hours, or overnight, at room temperature.

Strain off the liquid through a white cotton cloth, such as a double thickness of cheesecloth, pressing all moisture out of the curd.

Transfer remaining curd to dish

If too dry, cottage cheese may be moistened with a little sweet cream. The cottage cheese is quite perishable and should be stored in your refrigerator.

Dissolve one whole, or a portion of, junket tablet in cold water. To determine amount, remember that one junket tablet is enough for 3 gallons of milk; adjust the amount of the junket tablet you use accordingly with the amount of milk you intend to use.

After dissolving junket tablet, stir mixture carefully into milk

Is it possible to make cottage cheese at home? Do you need special equipment, like that used for making yogurt?

I never thought about using dried apricots in a fruit pie until someone made one for me recently. Do you have a recipe?

I don't know exactly what type of apricot pie recipe you're looking for. The following recipe, which is excellent even if it may not be what you're looking for, is actually put together in much the same way a French apple pie is put together.

Taking it from the top

By REV. DAVID T. EVANS
Everglades Presbyterian Church
Next Sunday is the first Sunday in Advent. Advent is the season Christians celebrate in remembrance of Christ's birth. It begins the fourth Sunday before Christmas.

The origin of the word advent is derived from the Latin word "advenire," meaning the time of the arrival specifically of the Christ-child. It is a time for preparation for the coming of the King of Kings.

The mighty King was a humble, king, triumphant and victorious. He was made king by prophecy, by the people, and by God. Christ, the King, rules and changes people by love in His own humble way.

The prophet Zechariah relates the words of an oracle saying, "Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion! Shout aloud, O daughter of Jerusalem. Lo, your King comes to you, triumphant and victorious is he, humble and lowly on an ass, on a colt the foal of an ass." Matthew ties these words with the fulfillment of the prophecy by Jesus' triumphal entry into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday.

Jesus was made king by the people in and around Jerusalem. They wanted a king and a leader. Israel had reached its lowest ebb as a nation. For nearly six centuries except for a few years she had been under the domination of one or another of the world powers. Jesus did not desire an earthly kingdom and would reject the people's demands. Yet Jesus had another side.

The humble King turned angry reformer when he found the Temple being desecrated. He cleaned out the money changer and the sellers of animals and birds who were violating the house of prayer. Humility has nothing to do with weakness.

Jesus was a king by prophecy and by the people, and He was king by God and of God. Christ could not and still can not be captured by any group or cause for He retains His kingship on His own terms.

Our preparation for the coming of the King begins with repentance. Repentance is the making amends for our wrongful way of living. Most of us today have at one time or another turned to Christ. As we celebrate His birth we ought to change our minds about our past actions and strive to get back on the right track.

Our preparation should not, however, be limited to an inward reprieve but should result in a change in our outward action. Jesus showed his love in all areas of his life; we ought to try to do the same. Our love received from Christ should not remain baby size but should mature by sharing it with all, including those we count as unloved.

The Well-Rounded Life

There are times we want to paint, and times we want to study. Who says a fellow can't wear his work clothes while enriching his mind? And relax with his shoes off, too!

Indeed all of us need to be cultivating the well-rounded life. We need to make provision in our busy weeks for work and play and learning and worship.

Much of the pressure under which we live may not be so much the result of life's unreasonable demands upon us as the result of our inadequate preparation for meeting life's demands.

Time spent with God . . . learning of His purposes, His power and His love . . . is one of the essentials for the well-rounded life. And while custom has long prompted folks to express reverence by donning their best clothes, in the church today the important thing is not what you wear — but that you're there.

The "bargain" of 1 1/4% more.

All of us look for bargains these days. It just makes sense. But we have to look carefully at those "bargains." Are they really savings? Or do they cost us money?

For instance, let's look at the 1 1/4% more interest paid by savings and loan associations than by banks. On a passbook savings account of $1,000, that's about $2.50 more per year.

But saving at a separate place from where you bank means extra trips. And gasoline costs about $1.00 a gallon. Just a couple of gallons a year for the added distance wipes out your savings "increase."

Nobody can do more for your money than the Florida National people. Because they can give you the convenience of saving where you bank — and more.

The Florida National people can develop a custom savings program for you, that makes your money work hardest. For your needs, your goals, what you want your money to do — now and in the future.

These days it makes more sense than ever to get to know your bank. The people who do more.

THE ACTIVE CONSUMER

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS AS A TELEPHONE USER

YOU HAVE A RIGHT, the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting points out, to know the least amount of money you can spend on your phone service. The phone company is legally required to tell you the minimum amount of equipment and service available.

YOU HAVE A RIGHT to own your own phone, point out the experts at International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation. Thanks to a recent federal court ruling, you can save money by buying a phone, instead of just renting one from the phone company. ITT Own-A-Phone telephones are sold at retail stores in a variety of styles and colors, starting at under $25. For more information about these phones, write ITT Personal Communications, Dept. M, 159 Terminal Avenue, Clark, New Jersey 07066.

YOU HAVE A RIGHT to be listed in the phone book. If the phone company neglects to list you in the book and you want to be there, they must print a correction in the next issue and add your name, in the meantime, to Directory Assistance.

YOU HAVE A RIGHT to know your rights as a telephone user, and a booklet on them is available from the Consumer Affairs Division of the Federal Communications Commission, 1919 M Street, N.W., Washington, D.C.

Most geologists believe the Great Lakes were once river valleys enlarged by glaciers during the Ice Age.

A brilliant deduction from First Federal.

Put your money in our IRA instead of the IRS.

As you probably know, IRA is a retirement plan for working people who don't already have one. At the same time it doubles as brass as immediate income tax shelter. Briefly, here's how it works.

You can open an IRA account, right now, at First Federal.

2.

Your account can earn at the high interest rate of 8.00% yielding 8.33% annually.

3.

Your annual contribution to IRA is limited to 15% of your earned income or $1500, whichever is less. The limit is $1750 for married couples in which only one spouse is employed.

4.

Your eligible contribution to an IRA account in 1979 is totally deductible from your 1979 earned income -- and that includes all earned interest.

5.

Some day -- when you finally retire and start drawing on your fund, you will begin to pay taxes to the IRS -- but usually taxes are lower after retirement.

You can start drawing on your fund on your fifty-ninth and one-half birthday. Withdrawals before that time are subject to substantial penalties.

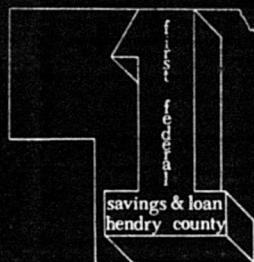

These are the bare bones of a really fine retirement plan. Stop by our office for complete details -- or send for our IRA booklet. We urge you to consider IRA. And, don't forget that we also offer Keogh Retirement tax shelter plans for self-employed persons. Yet another truly brilliant deduction opportunity.

CRAFTY IDEAS

GIFTS: MAKE THEM BY HAND

Crafts have enjoyed a popularity boom in recent years as Americans take greater interest in exploring and rediscovering their heritage. And the holidays are when interest peaks, because nothing shows you care more than a handmade gift.

Such crafts as wood carving and weaving met the practical needs of early pioneers. Today they're valued by novices as well as skilled artisans who realize how therapeutic and profitable crafts can be.

Adults suffering mental strain at work can buoy their spirits at home by working with their hands in a creative pursuit. And at gift-giving time, handcrafted goods are often more appreciated than machine-made items because of the originator's personal touches.

The best way to learn a craft, and which crafts might be best suited to your lifestyle and pocketbook, is to observe a master craftsman at work, ask questions and maybe try yourself—before investing in supplies and lessons. At Six Flags Magic Mountain family amusement park in Valencia, CA, guests can do just that.

Spillikin Corners is the park's year-round crafts village where artisans representing more than a dozen different crafts ply their trades in full view, sometimes with guest participation.

Candles, sand paintings, dolls, doll wardrobes, weaving, wood carving, brooms and candy are a few of the time-honored folk arts and crafts which guests at the beautiful mountain playground 25 miles north of Hollywood can observe and literally have a hand in, while also making their own unique souvenirs to take home.

Spillikin Corners artisans take pride and pleasure in sharing information, ideas and practical pointers with guests. In fact, a magnanimous attitude toward sharing creative tips and ideas is common among craftspeople and artists.

See Local Merchants

If it is impossible to visit Magic Mountain in California, aspiring weavers, wood carvers, confectioners and potters should seek out craft shows featuring live demonstrations. Or chat at length with employees in nearby crafts and art supply stores, since most employees of such establishments are involved with creative pursuits and have a broad view of various craft costs and bare necessities needed to make a start.

The first step you take today toward rediscovering the crafts of yesterday may put you way ahead at gift-giving time—and the rest of the year, too.

Spirited COOKING

Have a Happy Holiday Party

Originally the "nog" in eggnog referred simply to "ale," but today it's often wine or spritely spirits. Rum Eggnog, for instance, served with properly glazed holiday treats like baked ham and turkey with Mini-Mince Pies can make your holidays happier.

RUM EGGNOG

12 egg yolks
1/2 pound sugar
1 quart milk
1 fifth gold Puerto Rican rum
Nutmeg

Beat egg yolks until very light. Beat in sugar till thick. Stir in milk and rum. Chill 3 hours. Pour into punch bowl. Or, simply combine 12-oz. gold Puerto Rican rum with a quart of prepared eggnog mix. Top with nutmeg. Serves about 12 this way. Fills about 24 small mugs.

GLAZE FOR ROAST TURKEY

1 small can jellied cranberry sauce
3 tablespoons light corn syrup
1/4 cup dry white wine

Combine ingredients.

Even a mini party can be a maxi success when you serve delicious eggnog.

1/2 cup white Puerto Rican rum
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon ginger
Few whole cloves

Combine ingredients and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer about 30 minutes, or until syrupy. Strain. Brush over ham several times during last hour of baking.

MINI-MINCE PIES

About 18-24 tart shells

1 jar (28 oz.) prepared mincemeat
1/3 cup gold Puerto Rican rum

Make and bake tart shells using packaged pie crust mix; or, buy ready-to-fill tart shells. Arrange shells on a cookie tin. Mix mincemeat over, rum, and rum shells. Cover with foil (so filling won't get too dry) and bake in a moderate oven, 350°, for about 20 minutes. Serve warm with a generous dollop of hard sauce. Makes 1-1/2 or 2 dozen, depending on size of tart shells.
